Comment:

My progressive lawyer colleagues really like to attend "Dump Trump" rallies, carrying signs and chanting, expressing their firmly held beliefs.

Under this rule, socially conscious lawyers and their staff would seem to be reluctant to attend such rallies, or conversationally referring to President Trump as too old, too fat, too white, too orange, and too MAGA, inasmuch as the President is a person currently "involved in the legal process."

Just because the ABA proposes something does not mean it is a great idea.

This are agenda driven rule amendments, and have no place in our Court Rules.
