Comment:

These rules are not necessary, would cause the courts more time and money as well as the owners of the properties. The only tenants it would help are the ones that are trying to cause issues for the owners and those are by no means the majority. It is in everyone's best interest, if evictions have to happen, for the process to be as straight forward and simple as possible. This proposal complicates and lengthens the process. This is unnecessary and harmful to all involved.
