Comment:

Please take my comment in respectful opposition to the proposed amendment. I've been a tenant for 10+ years and I oppose the amendment. I've lived below my means and paid my rent as a responsible citizen in every lease I've signed. My landlord is fearful of the changing climate in landlord/tenancy laws since Covid. They're considering selling their property because of the politicizing of landlord laws. The eviction system worked before. No one forced me or anyone else for that matter to be a tenant. In addition, there's nothing preventing me or anyone else from becoming a homeowner. In fact, I am currently taking personal responsibility to put myself in position to buy a house. However, renting a property served its purpose for me for a long time. I'd hate to see others not have that opportunity due to landlords leaving the industry. There's no practical need to change it aside from gaining political favor. Please take my comment in opposition to the proposed amendment.
